Collective action in the field of welfare. Access to information and cooperative mechanisms of organizations from Bihor county

Abstract:

The paper consists of 1) an information needs analysis of organizations activating in the domain of social welfare in Bihor county and 2) proposals for filling in these needs. After concluding that the organizations lack visibility and need more access to useful information we discuss the solutions that were implemented so far noticing their lack of sustainability and the insignificance of their target groups. This can be attributed to the costs of information sharing and to problems of setting up cooperative structures. We finish by proposing the world wide web as the ideal communication medium and the literature on the provision of public goods from the school of collective action as source of inspiration for organizing cooperation structure in the future.
