Asking about Questions

Alexandru V. Mureșan

Abstract:

Asking about questions / questioning could be looked upon as a very difficult topic as there are a lot of standpoints about. The paper considers that the logic of questions (erothetics) should be analysed in the context of the logic of problems. From this starting point, the author tries first to present the position of the well known philosopher of science -Mario Bunge. Then, the complexity of this topic implies a semiotical examination, Le. the syntactic, semantic and pragmatic perspectives. The last one seems to be the most promising one. The main conclusion is a new question about questions, Le. whether this topic belongs total(l)' to the logic (of questions) or to the rethoric (of questions). Is it a dilemma indeed?
