The Path of An Aristotelian Idea of Artificial Memory

Abstract:

The paper entitled "The education as a strategy of coming out of the crisis" attempts at being a warning signal to the perils that urge the weakening of contemporary spiritual lift. The issue of education in nowadays life, as a transition towards globalization, renders serious facts of survival, of getting acquainted with a new way of human coexistence on an ever smaller planet. The education belongs to the developmental policies in its entire image with great differences concerning the world civilization. The education as civilization of the universal, unless targeted by accredited factors, becomes merely a utopia.
