

POINT OF VIEW ABOUT DAVID MYERS “THE FUNDS, FRIENDS, AND FAITH OF HAPPY PEOPLE”

Abstract

What makes people happy? Why is someone happy? Are there the external or the internal causes important when we talk about someone's happiness? Is it wealth, our friends, or our faith that gives us happiness? What motivates us to strive for happiness, and the relationship between our motivation and our happiness is the topic of my comments on Myers' article using a perspective of McClelland's theory of motivation.

Keywords: happiness, motivation, causes
