

TEORII EXPLICATIVE ALE FORMĂRII IDENTITĂȚII DE GEN: PERSPECTIVA BIOLOGICĂ

Monica-Liana Secui *

Universitatea din Oradea, România

Abstract

Generally, the issues concerning gender development are analyzed using biological, psychological and sociological perspectives. Our paper presents the processes used by biological approaches to describe the development of gender, taking into account the hormonal effects and the sociobiology's explanations to the gender differentiation. We also discuss the evidences relevant to the most pressing problems of this theoretical orientation. Our final remarks stress the importance of the integration of perspectives.

Keywords: gender, development, biological approaches

* Universitatea din Oradea, Facultatea de Științe Socio-Umane, Catedra de Psihologie, Str. Universității, nr. 3, Corp X, Oradea, jud. Bihor, România. 410087; E-mail: msecui@uoradea.ro