

MODELE ALE ANXIETĂȚII ȘI DEPRESIEI

Mihai Marian *

Universitatea din Oradea, România

Abstract

In this article we are discussing the theories of depression and anxiety and their implication on the activities of the clinician psychologist. Recent research has focused on testing of diathesis-stress hypothesis and on the role of the depressogenic causal attributional style.

Keywords: depression, anxiety, research, diathesis-stress

* Universitatea din Oradea, Facultatea de Științe Socio-Umane, Catedra de Psihologie, Str. Universității, nr. 3, Corp X, Oradea, jud. Bihor, România
E-mail: mmarian@uoradea.ro